

LAKESIDE PRESS CHESS CLUB BULLETIN

Last night, Bill Herschberger gave the second in a series of lectures on the end game. His talk was well presented and very informative and should help all of us in our future games.

The next opportunity we get to apply all we learned will be on Monday, April 14, when Mr. S. Reshevsky will play a simultaneous match at Illinois Bell Company in the Loop. The cost per board for this exhibition will be approximately $2.90 of which the club will pay all but $.50. Since this is a regular meeting night, we will have our meeting here at which time Jim Brotsos will deliver the 3rd in our series of training lectures. After this, the meeting will be adjourned so we will be able to play Mr. Reshevsky.

In view of the new system established to determine the best players in each flight, the Board of Directors recently voted to abandon the "must games". Since all the competitors in the 7 player round robin will play each other, and since the must games have proven difficult to play in many cases, this seemed like the only fair decision to make.

On last Wednesday night, our Chess Team came through with another smashing victory, this time vanquishing the Chicago Title & Trust Company. This victory gave us undisputed possession of 3rd place. Our next match is on April 23. Our opponents that night will be Western Electric, currently in 2nd place, and a victory then would move us into a deadlock with them.

The individual scoring in Wednesday's match was as follows:

Score	Name		Name	Score
1	Caine	beat	Dunworth	0 0

Tentative plans have been made for a league banquet somewhere in the Loop on Friday, June 13th. The cost per person has not as yet been set but estimates place it somewhere between $3.00 and $5.00. Please fill out the form below and mail it to T. Holder - Billing - 1-C-9 as quickly as possible so that we may make more definite plans.
