FIDE: Will Fischer Write Its Epitaph? - Helen Warren

Lost in the maelstrom of "will he" or "won't he" play is the larger consideration of the status and future existence of the International Chess Federation, FIDE<sup>x</sup>. We are hearing a lot of "Will FIDE stand up to Fischer" and "Will it survive if Bobby doesn't play". It might be a good idea to take a look at this crisis-ridden confederation on the occasion of its Golden Jubilee.

Prior to this century, there were visionary chess enthusiasts, players, organizers and journalists, who promoted the idea of a federation of nations and players. The first to articulate such a notion was the Englishman, Howard Staunton, who organized the first international tournament in London in 1851. His dream was doomed to oblivion, circumscribed by the time and expense of travel from distant points to a central location for meeting and organizational planning. In the interim, until after World War I, chess on the highest levels was "on its own" as world champions organized their own tournaments and settled on their own terms for purses and match conditions.

In Paris in 1924, a team tournament was held with 10 nations participating; and at the same time, "an Amateur World Championship" event was staged. Because of the confusion surrounding the definition of "amateur" and "professional", it failed; but at least the groundwork for the first Olympiad was laid, held some 3 years later in London under FIDE auspices. The organization of the Olympiads each two years remains the most spectacular undertaking for the world body. From London in 1927 to Nice in 1974, from 16 nations to 76, it has been an arduous road.

Remarkably, FIDE has had but three presidents in its half-century of life: Alexander Rueb from the Netherlands (1924-1949), Folke Rogard, Sweden (1949-1970) and the present, former World Champion, Max Euwe of the Netherlands. As its membership grew, so did the number and variety of international events sponsored: the Women's Olympiad, Student Olympiad,

But, it is in the area of establishing criteria and conditions for the World Championship cycle, from Zonals to the Championship match itself, that FIDE has its most taxing role to fill. Steinitz, Lasker and Capablanca all picked their challengers and set their own criteria for their matches. So did Alekhine. But after Alekhine's death in 1946, FIDE asserted its dominance and after some jockeying, with the great boost realized from the joining of the USSR, a match tournament format consisting of six players was agreed upon. So the first Candidates Tournament began on April 11, 1950 and finished on May 18, 1950 with Bronstein and Boleslavsky tying and Bronstein subsequently defeating Boleslavsky in the play-off. Significant for the U.S., and the subject of much second-guessing and speculation thereafter, was the unfortunate withdrawal of Reuben Fine from this first Candidates. So Bronstein faced Botvinnik, winner of the five-man match tourney held in 1948 to determine the Sixth World Champion.

The chronicle of pre-Reykjavik events, the embroilments of the match itself, and subsequent events are well-known history now. President Euwe, representing FIDE, bent rules to assure that the match would be held; Fischer's utter scorn of FIDE's position throughout the match is a matter of record. The choice of Fred Cramer, acerbic representative for Fischer and ironically a FIDE representative for the U.S., failed to render the road smoother. As Spassky resigned the final game of the match, Cramer was in the process of writing still another ornery protest to a FIDE committee!

Subsequent FIDE meetings amended the conditions for the Championship match, most of them designed to placate Fischer; the length of the match went from 24 to 36 maximum, with first player to win 10 games declared Champion, or with the incumbent Champion retaining the title in case of a tie. Now Fischer is demanding a match with no game limit and a score of 9-9 resulting in automatic match win for the Champion. Already Fischer has won two preliminary rounds in choice of site (Manila) and choice of official referee. By April 1, the chess world should know whether we're in for another Reykjavik, but it won't be until game time in June that we'll know for sure whether there will be a match at all.

In addition to the intricate planning of international competitions, FIDE does much else. Through its many standing committees, it performs a myriad of functions: the Commission for Chess Compositions, including GM's, Masters, and Judge titles**, is active in screening problems, studies and compositions for publication; the Qualification Committee sets standards for awarding of titles; there is a permanent committee on Rules of Play, one for Funds, another for Statistics; other Commissions include those for Ladies' Chess, Junior Chess and the Association of Chess Journalists.

Senior Division/Junior Division All-Star Match

The annual match between the top players of both divisions will be held Friday, April 4, 1975, at 7:00 p.m. at the Amoco cafeteria in Naperville. The match organizers are hoping to have the 15 top rated players of both divisions competing.

Players will be notified regarding participation. If you are invited to play, please acknowledge the invitation to Dick Lee at Amoco (420-5235) or Irv Rosenfeld at CTI (332-7700, Ext. 1115). Visitors to watch or play among themselves are welcome, but you must notify Dick Lee so you can get into Amoco.

Argonne Versus the League

The Argonne versus the League match announced in Bulletin No. 5 has been rescheduled for Thursday, May 15, 1975 - same time, same place. Mark your calendars now. If you are interested in playing for the League, call captain Rick Shaff at 983-3352.

International Master Title Goes to U.S. Players - Martz and Grefe - Helen Warren

Two young U.S. players with contrasting styles of play and even more contrasting life styles achieved the coveted International Master's Title at the Houston International Tournament held December 7-19. John Grefe, 27 year old Californian, former U.S. co-champion, follower of a guru, every inch the mod-mod, scored 6 points in this Category 9 event. Twenty-nine year old Bill Martz from Hartland, Wisconsin, holder of a Ph.D. law degree, many times a winner of the strong Milwaukee North Central and Western Open tournaments, earned 5 and a half points, the minimum necessary for the IM norm. This was the second leg for both players. Grefe secured his first rung last year at Slantchev Brieg in Bulgaria while Martz achieved his first notch at the Italian event at Regio Emilia. Thus Grefe and Martz join the prestigious circle, and ever-widening one, of International Masters.

As of 1973, the U.S. had 13 IM's, the Soviet Union 33 and other nations a small sprinkling. The U.S. also had 13 IGM's (International Grandmasters) while the USSR boasted 34. This "Parity", if it can be called that, shows signs of continuing.

The awarding of titles and the establishment of standards for their attainment is one of the many ancillary functions of FIDE. Prof. Arpad Elo, creator of the Elo International Rating System, also heads the committee on titles. The International Master Title can be attained only after two "legs" are achieved, i.e., a minimal performance in two tournaments within a stipulated length of time and in tourneys of stipulated overall strength, with a mandatory number of IGM, IM's and lesser national masters competing. The strength of a tournament is determined by the mean Elo rating of its participants. Strength is designated by the term "category", with category 1 having a mean rating of 2250 upwards to category 15, a 2625 average. The weaker the tournament, the more stringent the point requirement. A category 9 event, for example, would have a mean rating of approximately 2450, well into the senior master ranks, and could be considered quite strong. In this case, an even score secures a leg of the IM norm, while 10-5 would be required for the leg of the GM. Foreign tournaments have generally been stronger than U.S. tournaments termed "international", but as the U.S. gains more experience in sponsoring such events, attracting foreign IM's and IGM's to play in them, the level of the U.S. International will improve.

For Grefe and Martz, it was the end of a long and tedious road. It is difficult for U.S. players to get the financial assistance to travel abroad in order to participate in strong events that provide opportunity for achieving IM norms. This situation is improving, however, and the USCF has provided some promising U.S. players the chance. The introduction of the U.S.-based International event, the first held in Pennsylvania, then Los Angeles, Chicago and Houston, should do much to enhance the picture for aspiring U.S. talent.

Notice to Team Captains

Some home team captains are not getting match results promptly to the Division Chairman. This prevents up-to-date standings and ratings of the individual games. The match results pass from captain to Division Chairman to Bulletin editor. To be current, you must be prompt.

New Team Captain

Marion Byckowski is the new team captain for ITT Telecommunications. His phone number is 297-5320, Ext. 369. Bill Ceritelli has left ITT and is now with Argonne. Did Argonne really need another good chess player?

Junior Division News

Loop and South Section News - Terry Andresen

The Harris Team Captains have informed me that due to personnel problems they will be unable to field full teams for the remainder of the season. Instead of each team forfeiting a large number of games, we have decided to combine the remaining forces of the two teams. The Harris "B" team will complete their regular season schedule but will not be eligible for the play-offs. The Harris "A" team will be credited with 4-0 forfeit losses to its remaining opponents: CTI, CTA, First National Bank and G.A.T.X.

North-West Sections by Ned Anderson

The writer finally had the opportunity of seeing the Austin team in action. They showed Sara Lee no mercy in beating them 4-0. Messrs. Litvinas, Pejovic, Ansari, and Basrai from Austin have a combined record of 26 victories, six losses, and one draw. This is a great tribute for a new team.

Not to be out done, Procon in the West is stepping away from the rest of the division. Check their record; 27 victories, seven losses, 0 draws for their top boards, Stys, Viteri, Dailidka, Deleon, and Naami.

In the battle of the undefeated newcomer, J. Trocha from Zenith Kostner was bumped off by Ed Buerger from Alumni, and Jim Brown

The Bell Versus the Rest of the League

On Thursday, February 20, 1975, the Rest of the League got a scare. The annual match resulted in a 12-11 win for the Rest of the League as Amoco team members contributed 3-1/2 of a possible 4 for the Rest.

A short game played on Board No. 2:

Goncharoff	Benson
Motorola	Bell Labs
1. PK4	PK4
2. NKB3	NQB3
3. BN5	PQR3
4. BR4	NKB3
5. PQ4	PxP
6. O-O	PQN4 (better BK2)
7. BN3	PQ3
8. NN5	PQ4
9. PxQP	NQR4?

Solutions

6. (N. Guttman, 1961) 1. N-Q2
 7. (W. Speckmann, 1957) 1. K-R7

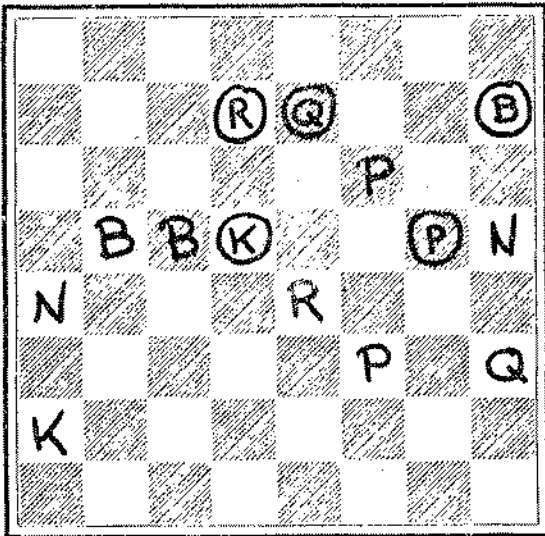

Solvers' results: 100 percent - C. Buckner, R. Burk, W. Monken, B. Olson, J. Warren, D. Wilson; 86 percent - R. Baran, N. Goncharoff, W. Sloan; 71 percent - E. Csordas. (Only those who have attempted all problems are listed.)

This issue's No. 10 is an original by Joe Neumark of Motorola. Perhaps not difficult for this part of the season when I'm beginning to test solvers' mettle. So No. 11 is a 4-mover to "average" the lengths at 3.

As before, "deadlines" are elastic because of delays. The main thing is that solutions should be in before they are published.

CICL Third Industrial Tornado - April 13

The CICL's Third Industrial Tornado - a USCF rated open tournament - will be held Sunday, April 13, 1975, at the O'Hare Inn (Mannheim and Higgins Roads). This tournament is held to encourage USCF membership and to publicize the CICL. This is an excellent chance to become acquainted with tournament play.

There are eight guaranteed prizes:

First Overall - $30 plus trophy
Second Overall - $20 plus trophy

Classes B, C, D, E and unrated winners will receive a trophy, as will the top CICL member winner. Other prizes will be awarded as entries permit (hopefully, a third place prize of $10 plus trophy and others).

The tournament director will be Jim Brotsos. Competition will be a four-round Swiss style system. Time control will be 30 moves per hour. The following times will be adhered to:

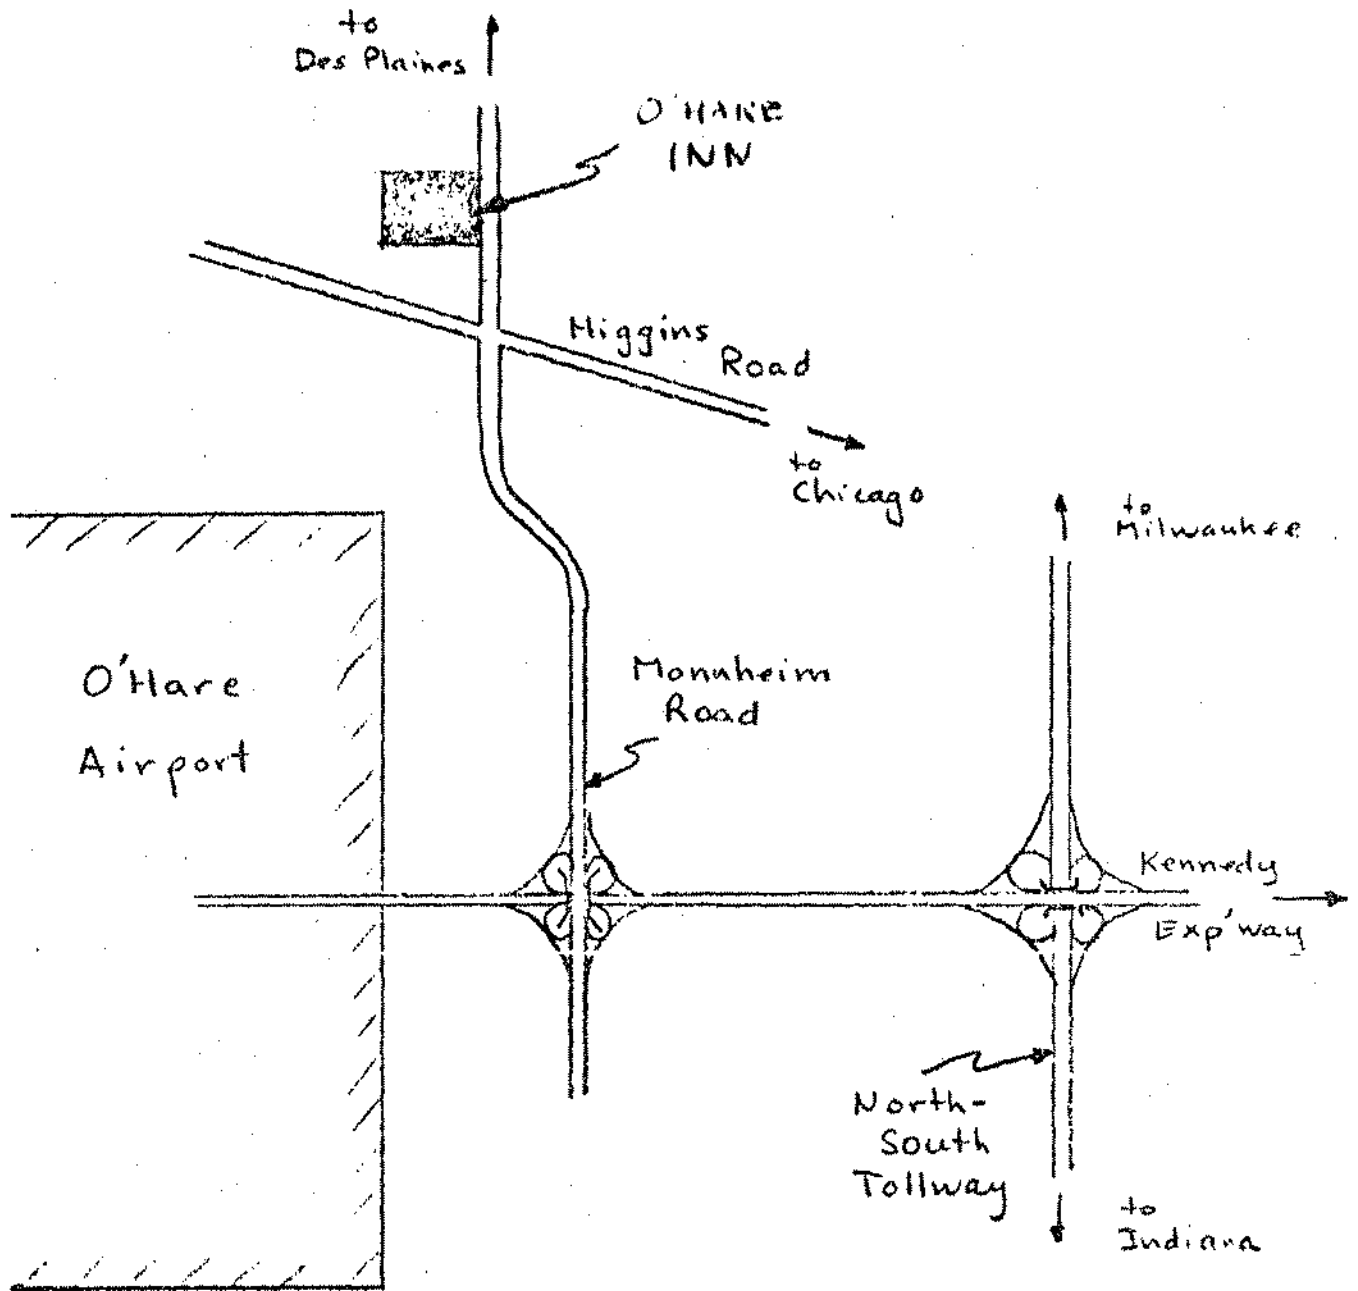

8-8:30 a.m. - Registration
9:00 a.m. - Round I
12:30 p.m. - Round II
3:30 p.m. - Round III
7:00 p.m. - Round IV

Entry fee will be $7 for USCF members ($5 if received by Charles Ward by April 9). USCF membership is required, but the CICL can offer you the best deal in town. Membership can be purchased along with your entry. Normal membership dues are $15 per year, but only $12 for CICL members. In addition, if you are joining for the first time, you can get an additional $2 off or only $10. Remember this includes one year of "Chess Life and Review". To summarize, this means you can enter the tournament and obtain initial membership in the USCF by sending $15 to Charles Ward now. If you register on April 13, it's still a good deal at $17.

Send your entry fee (and membership dues, if needed) to:

Mr. Charles E. W. Ward
615 S. Lincoln Street
Hinsdale, IL 60521

then have a good time on Sunday, April 13, 1975, at the O'Hare Inn. The O'Hare Inn is just north of O'Hare Field in Rosemont, Illinois at Mannheim and Higgins Roads. Bring your own set and clock.

1. Take tollway system toward O'Hare Airport.
2. Exit north at Mannheim Road, last exit before O'Hare.
3. O'Hare Inn is about 1 1/2 miles north.
