Happy 2014!

We're always looking for submissions! As always, feel free to submit stories, games, chess news, and information about local chess events to the bulletin. We especially would like to hear from you about this month's dialogue regarding alternate time controls.

Please email submissions to Bulletin@ChicagoChessLeague.org.

Best to all,

Games Update from CICL President, Irwin Gaines 02/25/14

I have entered all the games that I have received. As of 02/25/14, there are now 185 games from 32 matches that can be downloaded and viewed from the link on the website. Look them over and please send any corrections to games@chicagochessleague.org and I will fix any errors.

The list of matches played and games scores received has also been updated as of today, at the "games received-tracking" link on the left side of the main CICL web page. Teams whose home matches have not been sent in should feel guilty and please send in whatever games you have. Electronic copies (either pgn files or pdf scans or scoresheets) can be sent to games@.. as above; paper scoresheets can be mailed in the stamped addressed envelopes you should have or to the address on the web page.

Thanks and enjoy the games!

Irwin

Your Thoughts: Alternate Time Controls in CICL Matches

Last month a few chess players shared their thoughts and experience with alternate time controls in this year's matches, which prompted some other players to ask, what are the current time control and adjournment rules, anyway? Here's a recap:

The current rules on Time Controls, from Section V of the CICL Constitution:

F. Time Controls

1. Time controls can be set by individual player agreement. Except that for all games reported on a match results sheet (counting or extra board), a time control of game in 30 minutes ("G/30") or slower must be used.
2. The default time control is 45 moves in 90 minutes without a delay, followed by a secondary time control of 30 moves per hour without a delay. This default will apply in the absence of agreement to a different time control between the two players.
3. If a clock must be started in the absence of a player, the default time control will apply, unless the team captains agree otherwise.

The current role on Adjournments from Section V of the Constitution:

H. Adjournments

1. When an Adjournment May Occur

After the secondary time control, either player may demand an adjournment. Adjournment at any other time may occur only if both players agree to it, except when the playing site has a fixed closing time (see next section).

2. Sites With a Fixed Closing Time

- a) If a playing site has a fixed closing time, the home team captain must announce the closing time before the match. If the site's closing time does not allow play to continue through the end of the second default time control, the following rules then apply for adjourning games after the first time control is completed. But these rules do not apply, if both players have agreed to a sudden-death time control that will be completed before the closing time.
- b) After the first time control is completed, and it is within 30 minutes of closing, either player may require an adjournment. This can be without the agreement of his opponent, even if it is not one's turn to move. Whoever is on move must then seal their current (unplayed) move before the announced site closing time. Captains will announce when it is 30 minutes before the announced closing time.
- c) When it is 15 minutes before closing time, the game must be adjourned. As of that time, no further moves on the board are allowed. Whoever is on move must seal their current (unplayed) move before the announced site closing time. Captains will announce when it is 15 minutes before the announced closing time.

CICL Constitution (August 2011 Rev) P. 22 of 28

- d) The home team player (whose site doesn't allow the normal five hours of play) is to travel to the other team's home site to resume the game, unless both players agree otherwise. When a non-voluntary adjournment occurs at a neutral playing site with limited playing time due to time restrictions, the adjournment should be played off at some site that is mutually agreeable to the two players involved. Once a game reaches move 76, it is often necessary to adjourn. Otherwise, the playing session could last well beyond 5 hours.

Last Month's Comments:

Greg Bungo, DDCC:

Now that the CICL season is half over, I'm curious about people's experiences with alternate time controls in league matches. I hope most of you have had the opportunity to try a different time control, such as { 45 moves / 90 minutes, Sudden Death (SD) / 60 minutes, 5 second delay }.

My team, Downers Grove Chess Club, has played 5 matches, and in 4 of those matches, every game was played with an alternate time control. In one game in one match, the players did not have a digital clock, so they couldn't use the 5 second delay, but they still played 45/90, SD/60, since adjournments are annoying, and are fertile ground for cheating in the computer age. We won, lost, and twice drew matches with the alternate time control.

In a fifth match (not in the 5th round), only two of our opponents agreed to use the alternate { 45/90, SD/60, 5 sec. delay } time control. We won that match.

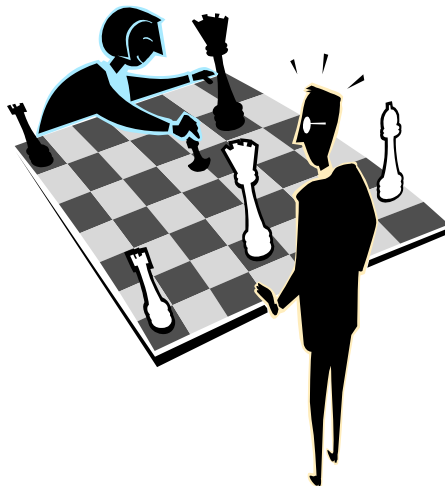

There are multiple benefits to the alternate control, and I no longer think that avoiding adjournments is the primary benefit, although it is important. The 5 second delay helps to prevent time pressure from becoming purely an act of manual dexterity. With the standard CICL time control, if a player is very short of time a few moves prior to a time control (usually shortly before move 45), he is in great danger of losing on time, unless he is a highly skilled blitz player. I don't know about the rest of you, but I make a lot of mistakes in blitz play, and the extra 5 seconds per move is enormously reassuring.

I would love to read the impressions of people who have played with an alternate sudden death time control in a CICL league match.

Tony Jasaitis of Hedgehogs:

As far as I know, the East Division is 100% on a de facto standard of 45/90, then SD/60, 5 sec delay (if digital clock; for mechanical clocks some people might add a few minutes to the clock). I believe we're all happy with that. Some individual boards agree to faster, like G/90.

What are your thoughts and your/your team's experience with alternate time controls and/or adjournments this year so far? Please send an email to Bulletin@ChicagoChessLeague.org and we'll include your responses in next month's bulletin!

Name: Whammie the Wombat

Position: Team Mascot

Team: SSCC Wombats

CICL Rating: Unrated

What is your favorite food? Grass, tree bark, roots.

And drink? Mountain Dew.

How long have you been playing in the CICL? I've been in the CICL for about four years. I don't play so much as serve as a source of inspiration for my teammates.

Who is your favorite chess player of all time? Paul Morphy...I've heard some interesting things about him lately, particularly from the Tyros team.

What are chess players particularly good at (other than chess): Manhandling wombats. No matter how excited you are about winning your game, I am not a furry football!

Is there another skill or game you'd like to learn? Poker.

Is there a chess book that had a profound influence on you? My System by Aron Nimzowitsch. What, you didn't think Wombats were hypermodern?

If you could rename your CICL team any name, what would it be? No! Their current name is perfect, unless they want to change it to the Whammies...

If you could choose a superpower, what would it be? Opposable Thumbs.

Would you use your superpower in your chess game? Definitely. For one thing, I would win a lot more blitz games.

What music do you like to listen to? The band The Wombats.

If you wrote a chess book, what would the title be? Wham, Bam, Thank you Ma'am: A Wombat's Guide to Chess.

Whammie the Wombat looking composed during a match...
