ON THE COVER

"The Chess Tree" by Larry Kwiatak
From the cover of the October 1980 Bulletin

Word from the Editor

Once again, we've reached the finish of an exciting season! Recent wallowing in historical CICL records has reminded me that this was the 45th, of which we each can be proud!

The project to reproduce some CICL Bulletins (see last issue Editor comment) has completed its first phase. But, due to a hyperactive Games Editor, the recent seasons were so large that the entire bulletin set since 1980 will not fit on our website. But do not fear! They do just fit on a CD! So copies are being made and I'd expect each Banquet attendee will receive one of their very own.

In participating in that project, I was stunned by the quality of past Bulletins! Even though some were stunningly ugly, the amount of original material and dedicated reproduction by typewriter made me realize what an effort these guys made! And each innovation has built the Bulletin to what it is today!

I dedicate this season finale to those comrades-in-arms !

Tom Friske, Bulletin Editor

How to read the cross table

Across the column are the opponents of a player in each round.

"+" means the player won against that opponent.

"=" means a Draw.

"-" means the player lost to that opponent.

For example, on K. Williams line, "+Ailes" in the Round 1 column means that Williams beat T. Ailes.

On T. Ailes line, "-Williams" in the Round 1 column means that Ailes lost to Williams.

The 2002 League Championship Playoffs

Highlights

by Ruben R. Reyes

At the starting line of the Playoffs, the teams in the order of average ratings were as follows: (1) Alumni Aces (1993); (2) Wolverines (1967); (3) UOP (1947); (4) Excaliburs (1917); (5) Lucent Tyros (1900); (6) Fermilab (1888); (7) Motorola Knights (1823); and (8) Lucent Chargers (1578).

After Round 1, the championship became a race among Alumni, UOP, Excaliburs and Knights.

UOP's lopsided 4-2 victory over the Wolverines in Round 1 showed the strength of UOP's middle boards when the trio of Ed Buerger, Ed Boldingh and David Sacks got 3 out of 3 against higher rated opposition. After this 4-2 win over the Wolverines, UOP appeared to have a good chance at the championship. But then UOP collapsed in the homestretch.

Motorola Knights, although ranked by average rating next to last, overcame Fermilab in the first round and then upset UOP 4.5-1.5 in Round 2. The Knights' trio of J. Thomson, C. Samelson and L. Ausburger were prolific winners and garnered an unlikely tie for 3rd place overall. Strong support from J. Balicki on board 5 kept the Knights in the race. Yuri Fridman did well on board 1 with 2 draws and 1 loss considering the fact that he was only rated 2081 and was facing opponents rated over 2224 on board 1.

The showdown between Excaliburs and Alumni Aces turned into a 3-3 tie. Alumni Aces got 3 out of 4 on the top four boards but were swept 0-2 on boards 5-6.

Alumni Aces got a big boost from Arnulfo Benesa on board 1 and Hence Allen on board 4. Benesa scored 3 out of 3 while Allen tallied 2.5 out of 3.

Excaliburs were helped a lot in close matches by the 3 out of 3 performance of Tom Friske on board 2.

The Wolverines, but for their disastrous 1st round loss to UOP 2-4, was quite a 5-man team of Volinskiy, Jasaitis, Rauchman, Sagalovsky and Kratka. The five scored 4 points in Round 2 and another 4 in Round 3.

There were three players who were unbeaten and untied in the playoffs, namely: G. Volinskiy of Wolverines on board 1, T. Friske of Excaliburs on board 2 and J. Thomson of Motorola Knights on board 2.

Friske kept Excaliburs in the race with a crucial win in Round 2 and another on in Round 3.

Thomson's 100% performance kept the Knights in the hunt for the championship.

Lucent Tyros showed pre-game promise with Pete Stein on board 1. However, after a lopsided 1-5 loss to Alumni Aces in the first round, Lucent Tyros lost their competitive edge when Pete Stein became absent on board 1 in Rounds 2 and 3. However, the Tyros still managed to beat Lucent Chargers 4-2 in the second round even though they were one man short.

How to read the table

Scores are listed in ascending order by board number.

A subscript after a score denotes board assignment. For example, L. Ausburger of Knights played board 5 in Round 2. A blank slot on a column indicates absence for that round. For example, R. Rzeszutko didn't play in Rounds 1 and 2..

A PLAYOFF REPORT

We have a... no, two!.. winners.....

The playoff battle ended Saturday, May 18th with a record-breaking 1st place tie between the Alumni Aces and Excaliburs! Most teams were in the running right into the last round!

The Annual CICL Open also sported co-champions. Defending champ Kent Williams (CCDOC) repeated and was joined by Lyle Hayhurst (Citadel). Each received $30 for his efforts. Approximately 15 players participated, one of the better turn-outs. Those not entering missed out on an excellent opportunity to play some strong players!

Thanks goes to Art Olsen, the Tournament Director for both events and Jim Thomson, our site host who also provided a bevy of donuts, coffee and soft drinks.

The road to a win....

The Alumni Aces were first to get noticed with a solid 5-1 win against the defending champion Lucent Tyros (their loss from last board). The guns were fully loaded and their sights adjusted.

Meanwhile, the Excaliburs pulled an upset against the Far West champion Lucent Chargers with a 4.5-1.5 score and UOP defended its seed-ranking against the Wolverines.

The team that caused the most fury (over-the-board and rumor around the League) was the 3rd-Place team from the North Division, the Motorola Knights (we won't be confusing the two Motorola teams anymore!). As our regular readers know, a playoff berth was left vacant in the Far West, revealing a gaping hole in the League Playoff qualification rules. The amiable ruling was a three-way playoff between Citadel, Argonne Rooks, and the Motorola Knights. The Knights won, earning a date against Fermilab. The Knights, in this match, creaked into a 3.5-2.5 win.

All this set up an exciting contest for last Saturday's second round. The undefeated bracket listed four teams that know each other quite well as three were North Division teams (Excaliburs, UOP, Knights) and the other, the Alumni Aces, have recently been in many playoffs and feature top boards from players formerly of a North Division alumni team. As expected, the Ace-Excalibur match was a dead-heat, finishing 3-3. Meanwhile, those upstart Knights gored UOP with a thrust to the heart.

At the close of the second round, then, the upper-bracket standings were:

Motorola Knights 2, Alumni Aces 1.5, Excaliburs 1.5, UOP 1.0setting up pairings of UOP-Excaliburs and Aces-Knights.

Your roving reporter was busy fighting off the defenses of Ed Buerger (UOP), but apparently the Aces finally put a stop to the Knight charge. Meanwhile, the other match was undecided to the last board! Four games were complete and the score was tied 2-2 with 2nd board finding the Excalibur player a Pawn up in a B vs N ending, and last board had the Excalibur player down a couple Pawns (in a Queen ending), one of which was ready to Queen. The Excalibur Queen had wandered to the farthest reaches of her kingdom, far away from the passers, in an apparent suicide run. As it turned out, it was merely true love as she was attracted to the UOP King! The romance ended a draw, as they danced the night away in perpetual check.

With the score 2.5-2.5 and the final board playing, the extra Pawn was found to be a lure to an enchanted Knight, freeing the opposition's King and Bishop to decide things on the other side of the board using the Pawns stored there.

The final standings of the upper-bracket standings were then:

Alumni Aces 2.5, Excaliburs 2.5, Motorola Knights 2, UOP 1.0

Two out of three ain't bad...

The lower-bracket teams (Wolverines, Tyros, Fermilab, Chargers) arrived Saturday knowing they'd have to score both matches if they were to have a chance at taking home a metal (trophy). This was a tough challenge, so two teams independently decided to conjure higher powers with a human sacrifice. Yes, the Wolverines and Tyros played the round a board short. There was a huge difference, however. The Wolverine board missing was from its last; the Tyros came without their top player.

The gods (well, the TD, actually...but the same thing) placed the Fermilab team near the Wolverines which immediately surrounded them and pounced as a group from the depths of the ECO. Who has recently has been attacked by Bird's Opening, or the Schliemann Ruy (1 e4 e5 2 Nf3 Nc6 3 Bb5 f5), or Bb7 in a Benko Gambit, or the Exchange Ruy ? Fermilab was clawed by all of them, showed its skill by fighting to Pawn-down endings, but a "Pawn is a Pawn" and a loss was scored a loss.

The exception to this trend, however, was the Benko Gambit game. The Bb7 thrust is used to eye the center, but the g2 territory can also become vacant if White's f1-Bishop becomes involved elsewhere. This did occur, and Black did sweep the diagonal, trapping the sleeping h1-Rook. Its surprised scream aroused the White forces, but by this time their monarch had joined the battle around the busy d3 sector and they were already engaged in what became a bloody mess. This reporter witnessed the slaying of their Queen and Bishop; promptly turned away, sickened by the guts and blood strewn across the battlefield. This one won't win a beauty prize. The survivors returned with the report of a Wolverine win, 4-2.

In the opposing match, the Tyros quickly stopped a Charger rush with solid wins on boards one and three; it turned out they were evenly matched despite the Tyros' shifting up all their boards. On board one, there was only one open file (well, that's what it is called, despite being cluttered with four Rooks and a Knight). Pablo Diaz realized the win of a Pawn by sending his Knight on a mission to kidnap the Queen; resulting in a trade-down to a Knight ending which he won surprisingly quickly. On board three, Bob Stoltz extremely pleased the Games Editor with an exchange sacrifice in a seemingly standard Sicilian. Although not a killer on its own, he continued the pressure and offered another piece. The exposed White King could not be defended and surrendered. With these two wins in the bag, the Tyros were able to earn a 4-2 win.

These events would force the final round pairing of the Wolverines and Tyros playing for second place (or a shared place, considering the upper-bracket contests). Here, however, the disparity in ratings was just enough to make a difference to the final result.

The tale of the tape...

"Wait until next year!" is the well-worn battlecry of the Chicago sports fan, but a re-examination of the season's end provides plenty of facts to anticipate the coming season.

Clearly half of the League's teams were invited to the festivities this year, but several others were close enough to get a glimpse. The fortunes of the eight playoff teams have just been detailed, but tales can be told of the "almost rans".

The Citadel Trading team closed their first season with a wildcard berth, earned by a 3-1 April (the loss coming from Playoff-rival Wolverine Trading). One would expect the year's experience to see them tighten the East Division race. But the Wolverine team apparently has an opinion; we saw their invincibility in the Saturday rounds, despite being a board short. Their top-four boards' punch looks to cause some headaches.

The Lucent Tyros clearly impressed, despite that board one scenario. Review of their championship roster reveals another missing player, Stan Ilic, who last season led his teammates to the title with a third-round playoff win against the League's 4th-ranked player! One would expect talk of a repeat with him present; add their top active player to that and you're talking dynasty!

The Pawns were the team that caused this year's furor (by not playing!) and one would hope that they will be competitors next. But, if not, the experienced CCDOC team appears to be poised to re-appear in the post-season.

Any of the 3rd-place teams (CCDOC, Rooks, Knights, Citadel) will pose threats to the seasons' qualifying teams. But even any of the year's playoff combatants was a single game away from changing the match result!

In reality, clearly twelve of the nineteen teams will vie for the title next year. The others could be a player away. It is obvious that a win of a single game may make the difference in a single match, and change the contenders next year!
